THE UNFORTUNATE,

REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

7 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, [illegible]ancisco. Established in 1854, [illegible] treatment of Sexual and [illegible] such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Strictures, Syphilis in [illegible] forms, Seminal Weakness, [illegible]ency, etc. Skin Diseases (of [illegible]) and Ulcerated Legs [illegible]ally treated.

Horrible Diseases.

[illegible] thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from [illegible] into the system! Look at their pallid, [illegible] disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage [illegible] of life. In this horrid situation [illegible] until death closes the scene. Let parents, friends, attend to those who are suffering with [illegible] horrible life-destroying maladies [illegible] for and cured before it be too late. [illegible] to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has [illegible] his special study for years, and who [illegible] the most inveterate cases without [illegible] drugs. It is important to the [illegible] or to those who are interested in the [illegible] of their [illegible], to be careful of the many [illegible] who [illegible] all cities, publishing their [illegible] all [illegible] in a few days, imposing upon [illegible] by using the names of eminent physicians [illegible] and other [illegible]. Be therefore careful and [illegible] [illegible], or you may fall into the hands of these [illegible].

Seminal Weakness.

[illegible] the consequence of self-abuse. The [illegible] vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, [illegible] with unerring certainty, the following [illegible] unless combatted by scientific [illegible] sallow countenance, dark spots under [illegible] eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like [illegible] and rattling of chariots, [illegible] of the limbs, confused vision, [illegible] loss of confidence, diffidence in [illegible] strangers, a [illegible] to form new acquaintances, [illegible] loss of memory, [illegible] eruptions about the [illegible] fetid breath, [illegible], consumption, [illegible] and frequent insanity. If relief [illegible] apply immediately, either in person [illegible] and have a cure [illegible] by his new and [illegible] mode of [illegible] this [illegible] cure. Dr. G. will give the [illegible] to any person who will prove [illegible] to him that he was [illegible] of this complaint by [illegible].

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each a written [illegible], binding himself to [illegible] and [illegible] cure, or make no charge. [illegible] may be CURED AT HOME, by [illegible] to Doctor Gibbon, stating case, [illegible] of time the [illegible] has continued, and [illegible], free from [illegible] to any part of the country, with full and [illegible] for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered [illegible] Wells, Fargo & Co.

[illegible] DR. J. F. GIBBON, 617 Kearney street, [illegible] San F[illegible] Post Office Box 252.

Prevention Better than Cure.

[illegible] Patent French Safe, a sure [illegible] and Pregnancy, sent by [illegible] DR. J. F. GIBBON, 617 Kearney [illegible] Post Office Box 252 [illegible] will [illegible] inform DR. GIBBON [illegible] in the Daily Ore[illegible]

FROM IDAHO.

The World of the 11th inst. furnishes the following:

A PROSPECTING PARTY.

A Large company, comprising forty or fifty well mounted and armed men, propose to leave Idaho City next week on a prospecting tour through the Wind River mountains, at the head of Snake and Green rivers. Mr. Patterson lately arrived from there, having been driven out by the Indians. He is favorably impressed with the appearance of the country.

In another place, the World says:

Mr. D. C. Patterson, an old resident of this Basin, the founder of the Salt Lake Express in 1863, left this place last March in search of the diggings of the "Frenchman," whose reported discoveries made some stir here last winter. The Frenchman's diggings proved to be a "bilk," but Mr. Patterson continued his explorations still further eastward, and after a trip of five months returned to Idaho City for reinforcements. The field more particularly explored is in the Wind River Mountains, on the waters of one of the tributaries of Snake river, and not far from the head of Green river. With only a single friend, Mr. Patterson penetrated these mountains and prospected for several weeks as well as his limited tools would permit. He found an extensive basin, well watered, lying at the head of Snake river, with plenty of washed gravel, quartz, etc. With a pan he found some good prospects. Before he could satisfy himself of the true character of the country, he fell in with some Indians, Crows and Flatheads, who showed anything but friendly designs. These Indians were at war with the Bannacks, and ranged through the Bannack territory. Mr. Patterson and his associate were obliged to leave in a hurry. The only evidence of the presence of white men in that country was seen by Mr. Patterson while on the retreat. It was a prospect hole, in which the bodies of four men had been thrown—whether white men or Indians is not known.

THE ELKHORN MINING COMPANY.

The Elk Horn Mining Company is a paying institution. The mill turns out its bar regularly every week. The annual meeting of stockholders for the election of officers will be held on Monday, September 10th.

ACCIDENTAL PISTOL WOUNDS.

John Hill was loading a pistol the other day, when it accidentally was discharged, taking off two of Hill's fingers.

On Monday, John McGee lost his left forefinger by an accidental shot from his own pistol.

We condense the following from the Avalanche of the 11th:

The "Sherman" is a recently discovered ledge in Flint district, near the head of Astor gulch—title in dispute. Separate parties are engaged in "stripping" for prospecting purposes. Twenty-five pounds of the rock worked by mill process by Col. Fogus, gave at the rate of over $600 per ton. Four pounds worked by hand-mortar process yielded a brick of bullion 2½ ounces. The ore is almost black with sulphurets. Not enough has been done to determine the size of the vein, but it is probably six feet.

The Cosmos Co. has bought 600 feet of the "Silver Cord," and has put about forty laborers to work upon it. It is said to be the richest mine in the camp, [illegible] the Poorman. A streak of several inches of the vein is red oxide of silver and assays thousands of dollars per ton. The solid quartz predominates in gold and much of it free metal.

The "Great Republic" was discovered three weeks ago, situate on north side of Jordan, half a mile below Booneville. Two assays have been made—one by Mcln[illegible] & Co., giving $39 99, and another by King, Webb & Co. of $32 96 per ton.

Whisky Gulch ledge is yielding some very rich ore and the ledge is improving in appearance.

The "Stamper" is a new discovery on Florida Mountain, about fifty feet east of the Varney and Carrico. The quartz is very rich. Florida Mountain is now attracting the attention of prospectors and capitalists.

The Black brothers are preparing to erect a five-stamp mill in Flint district—machinery to arrive in two days.

The sale of the Morse & Vose mill, at Silver City, has been postponed by the sheriff for a few weeks.

The report of stock being stolen from Sinker Creek a few days since, was incorrect.

Capt. Eckerson, A. Q. M. at Fort Boise, publishes a letter complaining that unknown parties are constantly selling ammunition to the Indians.

The mail rider between Summit Springs and Ruby City, recently rode the entire distance—one hundred and ten miles—in eleven hours.

FROM WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

We find the following in the Register of the 18th:

THE CROPS.

The hay crop we understand is now entirely harvested and of course well secured as the weather has been highly favorable. The yield, per acre in quantity and quality is probably equal to that of any former season, and greater in the aggregate in proportion as the number of acres is greater. Hay is worth $16 per ton in coin. The same may be said of wheat and oats, as to quantity and quality and the success with which they have been saved. Prices for these have not yet been established, but they are never below remunerative figures. Farmers ought to do well.

BUILDING MATERIAL.

Mr. D. B. Armstrong, has during the present [illegible] manufactured a hundred thousand brick at his place north-west of town and is now preparing to burn two hundred thousand more, with a prospect that they will all be wanted by another [illegible]

A COMPLIMENTARY ORDER.

General Steele has issued the subjoined order. The thanks of the Department Commander are tendered to First Lieutenant R. F. Bernard, Company "I" First U. S. Cavalry and the detachment of his Company for the energy, perseverance and bravery which they manifested during the recent expedition against the hostile Indians. The conduct of Sergeant Thomas W. G[illegible]r and his 19 men in attacking and totally routing a superior force on the 18th ult., is worthy of special commendation. Corporal Wm. B. Lord was killed in this affair. The loss of so gallant a soldier is deeply regretted. Thanks are also due the 11 citizens from Auburn and Powder River Valley, who guarded Lieutenant Bernard's pack train while he pursued the fleeing Indians.

Battle on the North Fork of Owyhee.

The Owyhee Avalanche is indebted to an eye witness and participant for the following account of the protracted Indian fight between the citizen volunteers and the savages:

On the 28th June, thirty-seven volunteers met on the head waters of Bowlder Creek—organized by electing George Hill Captain; Isaac Jennings, Lieutenant, and E. Miller, Sergeant. Marched south-westerly. Spies under Jennings announced that the enemy had evacuated their first position. The command followed, passing twenty miles over continuous beds of lava rock, thrown in heterogeneous masses nearly impassable, to the vacated camp. Saw one hundred lodges, large and small, with traces of a large herd of stock. Camped on the night of the 1st of July on their trail. On the morning of the 2d, five of our number deserted. About nine o'clock we were on the west bank of the North Fork, where the trail crossed. The banks were about seven hundred yards apart; the water of the river five hundred feet below; the passage in and out at an angle of forty-five degrees with many birches on either side. This gigantic fortress of nature excited sentiments of awe in the bosoms of all. Had the Indians made a stand? was the inquiry of all. The opposite side seemed as silent as the grave. Jennings was for advancing, Hill objected. About a half hour elapsed, when one Indian was seen by Thos. Cason. Four of our command who had crossed the river returned in double quick through a shower of balls, without casualty. Some two hundred of the enemy's cavalry formed on the east bank and commenced to deploy up and across the river. Capt. Hill ordered ten men to retard their crossing—with the remainder formed some three hundred yards back, his line of battle formed a square, with animals in the center. We improvised breast works from the lava stones that covered the battlefield. The fight raged fiercely for one hour, when it was discovered that from the ridge on the north our horses were in danger. At this time, Cromwell-like, Jennings usurped the command and ordered a movement west, which was executed under a galling fire. Arrived at a deep defile, the horses were driven in the command, forming an oblong square. Here we fought five hours, surrounded, under a burning sun, without water since morning. The enemy's infantry were around us behind rocks, with their cavalry formed, some 200 strong, on ridges east and west of us, 800 yards distant. One thousand yards across the river, on a high bluff were to be seen their families—anxious spectators of the conflict. Jennings, with a portion of the command, drove the enemy before him on the north, along an oval ridge, forming rifle pits each 300 yards apart having in each pit two men to protect the rear and flanks. The line thus formed extended to water. In this work, Winters was severely wounded in the neck. By order of Jennings, the remainder of the command moved in double-quick, with pack animals in the center, to the first pit, the occupants of which mounted their horses and deployed as cavalry, to drive back the pressing columns of the enemy, who rode furiously till a well directed volley sent them in and out their saddles reeling back. Our march was onward to the next pit, mounting two more. A general discharge repulsed their second charge. The same was enacted at each half at rifle pits, except the last, where they made a dashing charge for the positions around the water. This being seen, the whole command charged at top speed, driving them from the points they had gained. Here they fought like devils, making the air musical with yells and the whistling of balls in a terrific hand-to-hand contest. Each felt he was gazing on the last of earth, but soon the Henry, Spencer and Sharp rifles, in hands struggling for life, fast sent terror and death to the Piutes, who, with agonizing wails, fled before us. We were saved. Whilst this fearful scene was being enacted, our breast works were thrown up rapidly in the form of a right-angled triangle—our water at the apex of the triangle. The horses were placed in a dense willow patch near by. Fort Defiance, thirty yards north of the water, was finished partially the first night; the same of Fort Burnett, 200 yards north. Three other forts were built to the east—the extreme one being Fort Scott, with one breast work, on King's Point. The night of the 2d the enemy made, in darkness, quite a formidable breastwork 250 yards in the rear of Fort Defiance. At 10 o'clock on the 3d, under a heavy fire against the breast work mentioned, skirmishers advanced and erected Fort Cason, 150 yards from the rear of Fort Defiance. In one hour, Thomas Cason fell in this fort the first victim. We mourn him as a friend and one who, wherever duty called or danger most threatened, was ever found in the front ranks. We buried him by Fort Defiance, and the tears of manhood flowed freely as we bade him our last farewell.

On the table land back of Fort Defiance there were many large boulders from which the enemy could destroy our horses and communication with water. These they could seize in safety in the darkness, thereby rendering our position untenable. The writer understood from the commander, Capt. Hill, that at one half hour after dark we were to fight our way out with a few pack horses. Opposition being made, a vote elected us to stay. Messrs. Pickett and McCandless consented to run the gauntlet for relief.—The whole of the night of the 3d was devoted to strengthening the forts and throwing up a semi-circular earth work at the water fronting Fort Defiance. This being covered with our food, saddles and blankets, revived our confidence. By throwing out in the night pickets in the rear of our threatened points, we kept the enemy back. The fight was continuous from the morning of the 2d to evening of the 6th without lull, except sometimes in the middle of the day and the middle of the night. These were days and nights of toil and but little sleep.

Casualties—Thos. Cason, killed; Capt. Hill, wounded in the side; Webster, in the breast, slightly; Winters, severely in the neck; Carrier, severely in the leg—with 20 horses killed. Loss of enemy estimated at from forty to sixty—many seen packed off.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE

MONDAY MORNING AUGUST 20 1866

The Scheme for the Re-election of Nesmith.

As the time for the assembling of the Legislature draws near, it is becoming apparent that a "dead set" is being made by the few friends of J W Nesmith to obtain the re-election of their favorite to the United States Senate We say his "few friends, because everybody knows that not one tenth of the voters in Oregon—we mean the voters of all parties—would name Mr Nesmith as their first, or even as their fifth choice, for re-election to this position

It is very clear that the Democratic portion of the Legislature is preparing to support him True, there are now some obdurate and recalcitrant members among them to whom the thought of casting a vote for Mr Nesmith is very disagreeable, and who may possibly still assert that they will never vote for him, but when the time for election arrives, their votes will nevertheless surely be recorded in his favor The Democratic members are a minority only of the Legislature, and as they are perfectly aware of their inability to elect a man who was entirely true to their party during the "dark days," they will all come over to Nesmith whenever their votes can elect him They will vote for him, not because they hate him less, but because they hate somebody else more The drift of the Democracy towards Nesmith must be very strong when the editor of the Johnson-Davis-Doolittle-St [illegible] organ in this city can consent not only to the proposition to give him the support of its party, but can even spend two columns of space in adducing reasons to show why Democratic members ought to do all in their power to secure his re-election Of course none of them would vote for him if they could elect Jo Lane or Colonel Kelly. But their opposition to him does not grow out of the fact that he does not advocate Democratic measures now, or a fear that he will fail to do so hereafter. They oppose him because of what he has done; not because they have any apprehensions that he will be untrue to their party in future If they had it in their power they would take pleasure in compassing his defeat so as to punish him for his partial recusancy to their cause; but as it is not possible for them to elect a man who has at all times maintained a record as a "consistent Democrat," they will take Nesmith, as they know him to be with them now, and have no fears but that his future course will be all that they can desire.

Nesmith's wire-pullers, then, know that they can rely on the Democratic votes in the Legislature But as these are insufficient to elect, they know also that their favorite cannot be chosen without an addition of at least four votes from among the members elected as Unionists To obtain these votes, every influence that can possibly be brought to bear, will be perseveringly and unscrupulously used. The Union members are numerous enough to elect one of their own party to the Senate, and they are expected to do it, independent of the "dictation" of Nesmith's little coterie of friends, most of whom for a year past have had no sympathy with the Union party only in so far as they hoped to use it for the accomplishment of this one end.

The principal argument which will be used to influence Union members to vote for Nesmith, will be that he was not only loyal during the rebellion, but that he supported the war for the Union. It is true that at times during his erratic career he favored or pretended to favor the prosecution of the war, but it is no less true that he attended the Democratic Convention at Chicago, endorsed its pro[illegible] declaring the war for the Union a failure, and opposed Lincoln who was nominated on a war platform, and supported McClellan whose platform expressly committed him to the doctrine that "immediate efforts should be immediately be made for a cessation of hostilities," so that a peace might be patched up with the rebels on such terms as they should choose to grant. This is not a very brilliant record for a man who claims to have supported every measure that was calculated to bring the war to a triumphant issue.

Mr Nesmith, if re-elected, will act uniformly with the Democratic party, as he has been doing since he wrote his anti-Lincoln letter in 1864. He will continue to vote with Democratic Senators on all political questions In this regard, he will do all that Jo. Lane himself would do if elected He will vote for the admission into the Senate of the rebel Vice President Stephens, and of the ex-rebel Senators H. V. Johnson and W. A Graham. He will use his whole influence to divide and overthrow the Union party and to place the country in other hands. This he is doing now. The Union man who would vote for him would give a vote to aid the disintegration of his party, and to dismiss it forever from the control of national politics.

Suppose Nesmith had been at home last June—which party would have had his influence and his vote? He would not have supported the Union candidates. If he could go with the Democracy in 1864, he certainly could, and would have gone against the Union party in Oregon at the late election. He is co-operating with the Copperheads at the East now. The Union party has done some unwise things, as the election of Andrew Johnson to the Vice Presidency attests; but it has never yet acted so foolishly as to elect its opponents, knowing them to be such, to the highest offices in its gift But it would commit that egregious folly, were it to consent to the re-election of J W. Nesmith

The number of persons who are actually working to secure this object, does not exceed a dozen, and of these there is not one who has not some interest or other to be subserved by it. They are men who, like Mr. Nesmith himself, have been vibrating between the two parties, with a very obvious tendency toward the Democracy as a final resting place. The Union party does not ask for their services as leaders, and is not yet ready to be betrayed by them into the power of its enemies

In order to produce a stunning effect at the Philadelphia Convention, the Massachusetts and South Carolina delegations entered the "wigwam" arm in arm There is nothing at all remarkable in their doing so During the last six years there never has been a time when the Massachusetts Copperheads would not have been proud to press the gory hands of South Carolina traitors, and to walk arm in arm with them into a Democratic assembly Massachusetts contains very few Copperheads, but those she has are the most degraded of all the species that goup on their bellies and eat dirt, of choice, all the days of their lives

The dispatches say that since the Philadelphia Convention, Johnson has been in "excellent spirits" It is said, and many of his acts give strong color to the assertion, that he has kept an "excellent" article about the White House ever since his inhabitancy there

I say the halter to influential traitors.—Andrew Johnson in 1865

"I say credentials to my Bread and Butter Convention to leading traitors," is the language of A Johnson now

"We must trust the people," telegraphed Johnson to the say nothing Convention. How can he trust the people, when he could not trust even his puppets at Philadelphia, to open their mouths?

Johnson says he is carrying out the policy of Lincoln He is carrying it out in the same manner in which his political friends caused Lincoln to be carried out to his grave

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug 18 —The Grand jury now in session have presented true bills against Mr Hylton, the publisher of a filthy sheet known as Our Mazeppa, and Wm, Vosburg, Jerry Sullivan, Jno. F Larabee, Wm Nichol, and W H. Loomis, news vendors, who are charged with selling the paper A more infamous sheet never existed in a civilized community; its columns have teemed with vulgarity and indecencies, and no citizen has been safe from its vile attacks. This foul sheet has [illegible] in this city for two years, and it is stated that the man Hylton, who prints it, has reaped a rich pecuniary harvest from the sale of its sheets and the involuntary contributions of his dupes. The parties above named are all indicted for publishing, offering for sale and selling an obscene publication Judge Cowles ordered bench warrants to issue for the arrest of each, and fixed their bails, with the exception of Hylton, at $300 in each case Hylton's bail is $500. Hylton was convicted and fined $500 on the same charge some months ago.

John Johnson, the comic vocalist who created a great furore here about nine years ago with his comic singing—he first appeared at the old Metropolitan theatre in 1857 and brought out the Minstrel [illegible] he continued performing here and throughout the State until some three years ago, when his mind became affected and he was sent to the Insane Asylum in [illegible] Private letters just received, announce his death at the Asylum on the 4th of July last

The Supreme Court having ordered a new trial in the case of John Campbell, convicted of manslaughter for sh[illegible] and killing Anthony Hanglove about a year ago Judge Pratt, this morning, ordered that Campbell be taken from the State prison and be brought immediately [illegible] the Court in order that preparations may be made for his forthcoming trial.

A. A. Stickney and W J Bingham have disposed of their interest in the Californian to J P Bogardus who thus acquires three-fourths of the proprietorship of the [illegible]

The ruins of the Summer Street [illegible] have been completely overhauled and the worst of the story has been told. No bodies have been found besides those reported yesterday The list of killed and wounded as first published was about correct, and probably includes all Willie McCarthy is still alive and doing as well as can be expected under the circumstances Nathaniel Whittier is very low, and the chances of his ultimate recovery are extremely doubtful His wounds have the ap[illegible] of having been inflicted by the jagged ends of timbers; one of his thighs is broken and his ribs badly fractured, the ends of the broken ribs turning inward into the lungs and interior organs. His condition is somewhat easier this morning, although his pulse has weakened, He is suffering excruciating pain, but he does not utter a murmur or groan but with compressed lips, bears his sufferings like a hero as he is He is still lying at Dr Murphy's office. The patients at the different hospitals are reported as getting along well.

Joseph H Gardiner, Emery Hutchinson, and Maria Brown, have been sent to the Stockton Asylum as insane Gardiner is an old soldier, and fought under the English flag in the battles of Inkerman Balaklava and Sebastopol. Subsequently he was transferred to Canada, where he deserted and joined the Union army in the late war, through which he fought, and after participating in many bloody conflicts, was sent to the Pacific coast. After remaining in Arizona a year, he was discharged, and has since [illegible] His mind is not affected, but he is as simple as a child.

The London and San Francisco Bank has commenced suit in the Twelfth District Court against Sheriff Davis, to recover $4,976 alleged to have been unlawfully seized while in the hands of Scott & Glover

Judge Sawyer granted a non-suit in the case of John Gay, administrator, vs William Muter, et al on an action brought to recover $25,000 for the death of his son, by falling through a man-trap

[illegible]—The [illegible] Divorcing [illegible] since the City Council enacted an Ordi[illegible] in the retailing of liquor which sub[illegible] that a license should not issue to any one unless [illegible] bond with the Clerk in the sum of $[illegible] the applicant would not allow any illegal [illegible] upon his premises, nor suffer or permit any [illegible] to be employed therein. The object of the Ordi[illegible] is apparent. It was to cut off or prevent the [illegible] of this polluting practice by which the basest [illegible] are spread before the eyes of men and [illegible] into liquor shops—too often resulting [illegible] wreck of character and finally ruining both body and soul.

The people interested in the profits of the traffic of [illegible] the Ordinance and appealed to the courts [illegible] the Ordinance valid, and now [illegible] appeal to the Council for its repeal [illegible] used by the petitioners are, briefly: 1st, That the [illegible] has not prevented the sale of liquor [illegible] crime have not been diminished there[illegible]. That [illegible] rendered less glaring or unblushing. 3d, That [illegible] interest of property holders in the city to allow [illegible], because they will attract the loose [illegible] from the mines this winter and help to strip [illegible] of their hard earnings, which will go to San Fran[illegible] if not [illegible] here.

[illegible] the exact words of the petitioners [illegible] substantially as given by a paragraph [illegible] columns of our daily cotemporary last Thursday [illegible] to state the case of the [illegible] putting it as fairly as it could be [illegible].

[illegible] it is well there is no presumption in [illegible] the statements in the petition are [illegible] the contrary. As to the first allega[illegible] is immaterial. The Ordinance [illegible] the sale of liquor but to pre[illegible] that attended it under the former system [illegible], robbery, brutal murder and lewd exhi[illegible] and degraded women which the prac[illegible] was made a cloak for, or the cause [illegible].

Upon the [illegible] statement we take issue. We believe that the Ordinance has materially diminished vice and [illegible] made it less glaring and unblush[illegible]. [illegible] to be otherwise when probably a dozen [illegible] heretofore, with open doors [illegible] a "strange woman," dressed or [illegible] acting as a decoy to men and boys to rob them [illegible] of their money, their character, their virtue? In such [illegible] with lust and liquor, men who [illegible] would have revolted from [illegible] brawls and rows ending in stab[illegible] and murder. Not long since an industrious, ingeni[illegible] of this city lost his life in this way, and his [illegible] is now [illegible] his crime at hard labor in the [illegible] for life. Had this Ordinance been passed at an earlier day, this crime had not been committed, and [illegible] men might have been saved—the one [illegible] untimely death, the other from a felon's doom.

[illegible] the petitioners are evidently mistaken, if [illegible]. Doubtless vice and crime still exist in [illegible] probably will exist as long as anybody can be found who is not [illegible] the petition for the establish[illegible] of "hurdy gurdies," and the toleration of female [illegible] and bar [illegible]. To [illegible] vice and crime we [illegible] legal restraints, but tighten them by [illegible] means. If any plan can be [illegible] further restrain the vice and crime growing [illegible] retail of liquor, we will co-operate with the [illegible] to the end that it may be put in force, and [illegible] we cannot attain unto [illegible] in this matter, we will not consent to undo [illegible] been done, by quietly submitting to the [illegible] of this most wholesome and much needed Ordi[illegible] the "vice and crime" portion of the [illegible].

As to [illegible] statement of the petition, that [illegible], "if allowed, will bring money to the city and [illegible] holders therein, we are constrained to say that, morality apart, it is a most insufficient [illegible] to be true that, with a dozen or [illegible] in full blast next winter, we might succeed in [illegible] a hundred or two miners here during that season and wheedling them out of their money—[illegible] be profited by it? There is an old [illegible] than elegant, but which [illegible] to this case: "What [illegible] the devil's belly goes over his back." No [illegible] in the long run by such means. If we want to [illegible] in a material point of view, we [illegible] wealth and not legislate to encourage [illegible] debauchery and crime. A particu[illegible] (we do not use the word particular [illegible] for the time being put money in [illegible] but he will do it at the [illegible] of the [illegible] interests of the community and [illegible]. One manufacturing [illegible], one industrious laborer [illegible] to [illegible] than a score of "dead falls," [illegible] clothing and pinchbeck [illegible].

[illegible] the settlement among [illegible] of families, who will [illegible] wealth, build churches [illegible] and manufactories [illegible] Portland a power and a sweet savor [illegible] the coast and the continent. [illegible] the policy of the petition [illegible] Portland a dirty little back [illegible], idle and [illegible] to the [illegible] for loose women and idle [illegible].

[illegible] In proportion as we en[illegible] drive off or exclude the former [illegible] children which God has commit[illegible] which society has a right to de[illegible] and elevated, will not [illegible] welfare of their offspring [illegible] up in such a place and amid [illegible] could name places in this country [illegible] towns, but are now moral [illegible] the growth of low and [illegible] and idleness in their midst expelled [illegible] enterprise and right minded [illegible].

[illegible] (who are unknown to us) will [illegible] what we have said. We hope that upon [illegible] see the impolicy of their request. In [illegible] concerns the public good too near[illegible]. We are no "grim fanati[illegible]" [illegible] the sale or the use [illegible] is such a thing as vice, and there [illegible] which if left to the unrestrained con[illegible], are [illegible] and evil in [illegible] always and everywhere.

[illegible] should prefer that as a rule, men [illegible] at home. But this is not the way [illegible] probably never will be though it was [illegible] than now. Therefore we have saloons [illegible] under the restrictions necessary to preserve [illegible] and prevent illegal practices, we have now no [illegible]. Nor do we wish to reflect upon any one or [illegible] who obeys the law. We do not [illegible] of the [illegible] agree with us that females [illegible] from [illegible] these places—[illegible] in every case of the kind the selling of liquor is only a cloak for all manner of evil and disgust[illegible].

[illegible] woman in the estima[illegible] Upon this subject we con[illegible] from a writer in the San Francisco Bul[illegible]:

"The [illegible] and tolerating female dog[illegible] with [illegible] of vice. Let them, [illegible] a bold station of women are being [illegible] instruments and agents of de[illegible]. Any practice which directly and [illegible] and vitiate woman, is in the [illegible] to the well-being, good order and [illegible] for woman [illegible] refinement, has always tended to [illegible] dress and manners in society, but [illegible] are in the daily habit of meeting and [illegible] publicly degraded to the position [illegible] all this is reversed [illegible] and corrupted in its most vital point."

THE D'ORMY CONCERT.—Madam Josephine D'Ormy, as[illegible] by some local talent, will give a grand concert at the Pine Hall this evening. This is in obedience to the wishes of several of her admirers residing here and who [illegible] that the music-loving public should have an [illegible] to judge of her powers. Madam D'Ormy [illegible] powerful contralto voice which has astonished [illegible] of our best critics. This is particularly the case in the [illegible] from the opera of Lucretia Borgia, where she executes a remarkable shake on one of the lower notes. Her Orsini in this opera is consider[illegible] of art. She has mastered many works of the great [illegible] and is equally happy in the simple [illegible] not familiar with the lyric drama, but [illegible] why we should not cultivate a taste for Mozart, Beethoven, Bellini, Donizetti, Meyer[illegible], Verdi, etc., whose geniuses have tended to the re[illegible] and advanced one of the most beauti[illegible] standard.

INSANE.—A middle aged man named Frank Miller, re[illegible] at the Idaho bar, and formerly an editor in this city, and also at the Dalles, was taken to the in[illegible] day. He came from Idaho city atten[illegible] by the agents and messengers of Wells Fargo & Co., who looked out for his safety on the way, and is admitted to the asylum as a private patient.

STREET CLEANING.—The Bulletin says the following is the present style of street cleaning in San Francisco which is likely to be revolutionized some day: "One man with a split broom, and another with a shovel put one [illegible] into [illegible] cart, and the rest into the air for the [illegible] of residents half a block distant.

[illegible].—An exchange says that a couple were [illegible], in April last in Dallas county, Iowa, out of doors and upon horseback; and for a wedding trip started across the plains with 250 cattle, for Oregon. The couple are expected here in a few days.

OREGON VEGETABLES.—Mr George Herrall, of the gro[illegible] store, corner of Oak and First streets, has given us a sample of Oregon vegetables, raised by E. Glasse, of Co[illegible]. The specimen is a white turnip of healthy growth, and weighs 10½ lbs.

STATE ITEMS.

The Dalles has been troubled lately by house-breaking thieves.

Gen. Steele has gone on a tour of observation through [illegible].

The telegraph line was down yesterday, 19th, at some [illegible] Jacksonville.

Rev. Wm. A. Finley, President of the Corvallis College, was married on the 8th inst., at Vacaville, Cal., to Miss Sallie [illegible] Latimer.

Rev. [illegible] pastor of the Presbyterian church at Corvallis [illegible] year [illegible] call to minister to [illegible] church at [illegible] Cal.

The demand for dwelling houses in Albany is on the increase, and building, though carried on extensively, does not keep pace with demand, says the Democrat.

The P. T. Co. launched their new steamer on Sucker Lake last Saturday, the 18th. We hear, it is intended to christen her the Lady of the Lake.

In consequence of hot weather or injudicious use of green fruit [illegible] dispensation or something of that sort, there is an unusual amount of sickness reported from all parts of the State—summer complaints, mostly.

The order to abandon and sell Fort Dalles, says the Mountaineer, has been temporarily countermanded by the Secretary of War. We presume this was done on the recommendation of Gen. Ingalls, who, we understand, telegraphed to Washington for that purpose.

The following is an extract from a letter handed us yesterday: "Mr. Lattam just came down from Eagle Creek and says that the lodge, the 'Gem of the Mountain,' is very rich; the quartz will average $1,000 per ton. The La Grande Gold and Silver Mining Co. is boxing up the rock until their quartz mill shall be ready for crushing."

The store of Messrs. Kuhn & Bro. in this city, says the Albany Democrat, was entered last Monday night by picking a hole through the wall just above the ceiling large enough to admit the thief and then letting himself down into the room by a rope. We learn that some jewelry and a small amount of money, in greenbacks, were taken. The thief has not been taken.

We learn from the Downieville Messenger that Charles Augustus Spencer Clarke, whilom editor of the Washoe Times, has shaken the dust of Downieville—metaphorically speaking—from his feet, and will bless Oregon with his presence. Charles Augustus is the same Spencer Clarke who once "dusted" in haste from Washoe on account of being too soon the second husband of another man's wife.

Rev. J. H. Wilbur, Agent of the Yakima Reservation, last week called upon our friend Carter of the Corvallis Gazette. Noticing the call, the Gazette says: "Mr. W. holds the appointment from Government as Superintendent of Indian affairs. * * * * * * This agency has wonderfully changed under the able management of Rev. Mr. Wilbur." Most people have supposed "Rev. Mr. Wilbur" to be only an "agent." Rev. Mr. W. is evidently "tooting his own horn," with our friend Carter's wind.

We have received from the Agriculturist office one of the posters for the Sixth Annual Fair of the Oregon State Agricultural Society, to be held at Salem, October 16th, 17th, 18th and 19th. The Society this year offer greatly increased premiums and inducements to the farmer, mechanic, and stock grower. The premiums on cattle and swine are one hundred per cent. higher than last year. Membership tickets, with privilege of voting at elections, are fixed at $2 50, season tickets for gentlemen, $1 50; single ticket, for one day, $1 00; ladies, free.

The Eugene Journal says: A young man by the name of [illegible], about 18 years old, was killed in a shocking manner, last Sunday, on Long Tom in this county. He was attempting to cut a wart off a wild horse, and had the animal tied with a strong rope, which was fastened by a loop to the corner of a log house. The rope slipped off and the noose caught the unfortunate youth round the neck. In that condition he was dragged till he was strangled to death and until every thread of his clothing and even his boots were torn from his lifeless body.

The following, says the Corvallis Gazette, is a list of officers of Excelsior Lodge No. 9, I. O. of G. T., for the current quarter, installed by Wm. B. Carter, D. G. W. C. T., on last Monday evening: J. B. Lee, W. C. T., Miss Mattie Hamilton, W. V. T., Wallace Baldwin, W. S., Miss Addie Brownson, W. A. S., (not present,) Wm. Alexander, W. F. S., Miss Rosel[illegible] Russell, W. T.; J. W. Rayburn, W. M., Miss Udah Hamilton, W. D. M., Dr. M. Canterbury, W. C., Mrs. W. H. Johnson, W. R. H. S., Mrs. M. Canterbury, W. L. H. S., Miss Annie Irvin, W. I. G., Wm. B. Thornton, W. O. G., M. H. Bell, P. W. C. T.

CALIFORNIA ITEMS.

The Sacramento Bee says: Lieut. J. W. Soobey died of apoplexy at Gila City on the 31st of July. He has been in the volunteer service four and a half years. He was Clerk in the Legislature several sessions, years ago, and edited the Democratic Signal in Placer county. He had many friends and will be mourned by all.

The Stockton Independent says: Amongst our Califor[illegible]nia exchanges we have so far noticed but five that support Andrew Johnson and his policy, including as a part of it the Philadelphia Convention. They are the Examiner, Express, [illegible] Democrat, [illegible] Democrat, and Morning Call. If we remember aright, all these journals started out in support of McClellan against Lincoln in the autumn of 1864.

The S. F. Flag says: "Col. Bowie, of Sacramento, declines the Governorship at Canton."

The Sixth Annual fair of the Northern District Agricultural Society will open at Marysville on the 3d of September and continue until the 7th.

The Marysville Appeal says: A few days after Kern county was organized and the officers elected had entered upon their duties, a man by the name of Cox was killed on the public highway, being shot with a double-barreled shot gun. A man by the name of Riley sat on the Coroner's jury on the night of the murder, and the next morning gave himself up, [illegible] that he killed Cox, but made no further statement, saying he would explain all before the Court.

FROM UTAH.

From the Vedette of August 2d, we obtain the following:

SUDDEN DEATH.

A few days since Mr. B. F. Porter, of Nevada, arrived in our city and stopped at the Salt Lake House. Friday afternoon and evening he was about the streets, but at 12 o'clock that night he was attacked with the apoplexy, from which he died almost instantly. He was a Mason, and his remains were taken in charge by the members of that order.

A POLICE RAID.

On the evening of the 1st, the police made a raid on several houses in different parts of the city which were used for gaming and other purposes. They visited about a half dozen places, driving out the occupants, smashing furniture and confiscating eatables and drinkables in quite a [illegible] style.

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.—The stomach is the fountain head of scores of diseases which infest the human system. Indigestion, bad enough, per se, generates diarrhœa, dysentery, faintness, vertigo, palpitation of the heart, general debility, &c. Get rid of it, then, at once by going through a course of

DR. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS,

A palatable and refreshing preparation, which as surely relieves all complaints of the stomach and its dependencies, as the sunshine melts the snow. A course of the medicine may not perhaps be necessary. One bottle frequently accomplishes a complete cure. Sold by druggists and dealers everywhere.

DRY GOODS.

Meagher, Taaffe & Co., No. 9 Lick House Montgomery street, will never get through selling their immense stock of dry goods, piled up in their retail store as above. So the ladies say. And why? We say, because they replenish their stock every day from their wholesale house on Battery street, and increase their Battery street house from their New York house. That is why they can afford to sell goods so much cheaper than any other dry goods establishment in San Francisco. Packages of goods will be sent free of charge to the purchasers the same day by their porters who are kept busy on the run. Now ladies you have the secret why Meagher, Taaffe & Co. sell so much and at such low prices. au20dtf

S. T.—1860—X.

Persons of sedentary habits troubled with weakness, lassitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, distress after eating, torpid liver, constipation, &c., deserve to suffer if they will not try the celebrated

PLANTATION BITTERS,

Which are now recommended by the highest medical authorities and warranted to produce an immediate beneficial effect. They are exceedingly agreeable, perfectly pure, and must supercede all other tonics where a healthy, gentle stimulant is required.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhea and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.
They make the weak strong, the languid brilliant, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya bark, wintergreen, sassafras, roots and herbs, all preserved in perfectly pure St. Croix rum. For particulars, see circulars and testimonials around each bottle.

Beware of impostors. Examine every bottle. See that it has our private U. S. Stamp unmutilated over the cork, with plantation scene, and our signature on a fine steel plate side label. See that our bottle is not refilled with spurious and deleterious stuff. Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters by the gallon or in bulk, is an impostor. Any person imitating this bottle, or selling any other material therein, whether called Plantation Bitters or not, is a criminal under the U. S. Law, and will be so prosecuted by us. We already have our eye on several parties re-filling our bottles, &c., who will succeed in getting themselves into close quarters. The demand for Drake's Plantation Bitters from ladies, clergymen, merchants, &c., is incredible. The simple trial of a bottle is the evidence we present of their worth and superiority. They are sold by all respectable druggists, grocers, physicians, hotels, saloons, steamboats and country stores.

HOSTETTER'S

CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

READ AND REFLECT.

Make sure of Health. "But how?" you ask;
We answer, 'tis an easy task.
Strengthen the STOMACH, and sustain
The NERVES, the servants of the brain.
The LIVER keep in active play
And regulate, from day to day.
Each organ aid, on Nature's plan,
Brace and refresh the INNER MAN,
And like a watch that's kept in chime
By constant care, with railroad time,
The system's tone and strength renew,
And thereby cheer the spirits, too.
"How," you inquire, "can this be done?
This Victory o'er Disease be won?"
"HOSTETTER'S BITTERS," we reply,
Is HEALTH'S [illegible]

As a means of regenerating the disordered and [illegible] system, regulating every function of the internal organs, reviving the depressed spirits, invigorating the constitution, and prolonging life, no [illegible] preparation, of the past or the present time, has been so completely and universally [illegible] as

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

Against the vapors foul prepare,
That fever-taint the heavy air.
Drink not unmixed the water found
In prairie, woods or marshy ground.
If sedentary toil you ply,
Nature you must assist—or die—
For when debarred from exercise
For artificial aid she cries
Medicine's grand purpose and intent
Is threatened evil to prevent;
And if you'd be relieved or spared
From ills that crush the unprepared,
Hostetter's Bitters [illegible]
They are the surest antidote.

To set at defiance the miasma of unhealthy soils, the poison of unwholesome water, the effluvia of crowded work rooms and factories, and the baneful influence of sedentary employments, it is only necessary to be fore-armed with

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

Dyspepsia's pangs, that rack and grind
The body, and depress the mind
Agues, that as they go and come,
Make life a constant martyrdom;
Colics and dysenteric pains,
'Neath which the strong man's vigor [illegible],
Bilious complaints, those tedious ills,
Ne'er conquered yet by drastic pills;
Dread diarrhoea, that cannot be
Cured by destructive mercury,
Slow constitutional decay
That brings Death nearer, day by day;
Nervous prostration, mental gloom—
Heralds of madness or the tomb;
For these, though mineral nostrums fail—
Means of Relief at least we hail,
HOSTETTER'S BITTERS—medicine sure,
Not to prevent, alone, but cure.

In dyspepsia, fever and ague, bilious complaints, constitutional and nervous debility, constipation, sea-sickness, spasms and in all complaints of Man or Woman, proceeding from causal or inherent weakness of the body, the one great remedy and restorative is

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

To wanderers on sea or land,
From Polar shore to Tropic strand,
To households lone in regions new,
And dwellers in great cities, too;
To soldiers in camp, fort and field,
Who need against disease a shield;
To miners, California bound,
And tillers of wet, marshy ground,
To feeble wives of fragile mold,
To young and middle aged, and old;
To those in health, who would enjoy
Heaven's best gifts without alloy;
To all the strengthless, weak and pale,
Who droop, yet know not what they ail,
Hostetter's Bitters we present
As Health's most potent element.

If there is any value in public opinion, or any weight in medical testimony, the very best and safest Tonic, Corrective and Alterative now before the world is

The sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. Pharaoh's Serpents

From the little c... f silver foil
That dazes and fumes with a fretful fire,
There springs a serpent all yellow and ribbed
That rolls and thickens and curls still higher

The magic thing as if by a spell
Still slowly raises its sluggish crawl
Its fiery breath has quite burned out,
And there's a coil of dust—that's all

The vast man's love is a type of life
And all our struggles for paltry things
Our diplomatic treaties and talk
Tangled and bound with red tape strings,

Our ... schemes and our subtle plans
Our ... and ... and our brittle dreams,
Our ... that fleet away
Fast as the winter torrent's streams;

Alexander's conquest, Cæsar's ...
All that we hate and all that we trust
The beggar's fears and the rich man's hopes—
All end at last in the pinch of dust

Thrilling Adventures in Eastern Idaho—Danger Soon Revived—Probable Discovery of Another Gold Field

[From the Owyhee Avalanche of August 11th]

Some two months since, D. C. Patterson, with two other men, started from Idaho City to carry out a long cherished intention, namely, to explore the country lying east of Fort Hall at the western base of the Wind river mountains, with a view to the discovery of gold, which, from the location of the country and character of the sand and granite found on Snake river at the Fort and elsewhere, led him strongly to suspect existed somewhere near the head waters of that stream Arriving at Taylor's bridge, and knowing the rugged character of the country before them, they procured the services of a herder to accompany them as far as it was practicable to ride and then left him in charge of the horses Shouldering their blankets, Henry rifles grub &c, they started for the place of their destination in the unknown region east of the Belt Range. Two or three days clambering over one of the most precipitous, rugged and difficult mountains in the world, they found themselves on a ridge above one of the branches of the Snake that roared and foamed far below through rocky gorges in the mountains. Nothing worthy of special notice had occurred up to this time when they suddenly came upon a fresh Indian trail that afterwards proved to have been made by a party of thieving Bannacks that had been making a raid into the Crow and Flat-Head country and were returning with their plunder, hotly pursued by the Crows and Flat-Heads Patterson and his companion, apprehending trouble, hurried down to the river, intending to try and cross as quick as possible, in order to avoid discovery and pursuit, but scarcely had they reached the water when the Flat-Heads and Crows in pursuit of the flying foe, discovered the foot-prints of white men crossing the trail, and with all the eagerness of blood hounds set up their hideous war whoop, and struck out after the prospectors Hearing this, our friends hastily collected a few dry cottonwood chunks, which they tied together with the ropes from around their blankets, and pushed off into the stream, just as the red fiends came in sight and raised the cry of victory Finding the current more rapid than they expected, and their raft unmanageable, they were carried down stream at so furious a rate that it was impossible to make a landing They found, however, that with all the exertions the Indians were making, the raft was out-running them, and hope revived. Sometimes they ran over rapids that would submerge their frail bark, and it was with difficulty that they were able to keep themselves and their baggage on board, but they clung to it until they entered a canon so rapid that they expected every moment to be dashed to pieces over some cataract. During this fearful and rapid passage they out-ran their pursuers several miles, and finally came to the end of the canon, swung into the mouth of a small creek and came to land Here they consulted as to the surest means of escape, and decided upon the following expedient Planting two pine boughs upon the raft they tied the leaves and brush together at the tops, in such a manner as to give them the semblance of human beings On these they placed their coats and hats and pushed it out into the current, which carried it swiftly away down stream, bearing its crew of imaginary fugitives By the time these arrangements were completed the savages were again in plain view, bent upon the capture of the hapless adventurers, who betook themselves to the middle of the small creek, up the channel of which they waded some eight miles, and left their would-be captors to pursue the flying raft and its phantom passengers.

Having thus escaped so fortunately a danger, they congratulated themselves upon their own sagacity, and putting their trust in Providence struck out in the direction of the anticipated discoveries. Fresh Indian signs were visible everywhere along the way, but nothing serious occurred until they had reached their destination, prospected as much as they were able with the limited appliances at hand, and were returning Growing weary of their long march with heavy loads on their backs, they one day on approaching one of the main branches of the Snake, determined again to trust their fortunes to the stream, and accordingly constructed a raft and embarked. They floated on in safety for several miles until they came in sight of a rack heap ahead, that at first seemed to threaten to engulph them boat and its craggy base. A nearer approach, however, revealed a clear channel to one side of the mass of drift-wood, with the exception of a single log that hung high and dry several inches above the water. Patterson directed his companion to slide off into the water holding on to the raft with one hand and with the other to secure the baggage, preparatory to running under the "low bridge," while Patterson stood up in order to jump the log and light on the raft as it emerged on the other side. The log caught the blankets, however, and checked its progress—so that instead of alighting upon a reliable platform he found himself splashing in the water. As soon as he could survey the situation, he discovered that his comrade had held on to the raft, but had been unable to secure their blankets, which were floating some distance behind. These he secured by swimming and towing to the raft.

They had scarcely got safely back out of the water when they struck a huge drift pile that completely swamped them, the head of the raft struck the drift and the stem went to the bottom, leaving it stand upright, with the ends of the logs just above water. Patterson jumped upon the drift with his rifle, while his companion secured the blankets. Everything in the way of grub, cooking utensils, etc, went to the bottom. Here was a predicament—out of grub no matches, powder wet, one hundred and forty or fifty miles from any human habitation, and to add to their vexations, they found themselves on the wrong side of the river They soon found means to overcome the latter trouble by constructing another raft, which they abandoned as soon as they could make a landing on the right side Night coming on, they lay down and slept, after which they discovered a brown bear in the willows, and—thanks to the water-proof cartridges of the Henry rifle—killed it Of the skin of the bear they improvised moccasins to replace their worn out boots and cut off some of the meat This they carried along until nearly night, when they drew a bullet from one of the cartridges and by means of some of the powder and some rags ... fire with the rifle, with which to cook a portion. This they ... To their stock of provisions they ... the flesh of a beaver, which they caught away from the stream and killed. After having shot the bear and fearing the report would attract Indians they hastened away, wading down a stream to baffle them in case they should attempt pursuit, which, in a few minutes, proved to be a very proper precaution, for as they were leaving the creek and ascending a small tributary, they walked out on a long log that reached far out on the bank to prevent making tracks, and hearing a noise in the direction of the bear's carcass, they looked and saw five Indians on horseback, ride rapidly round in a circle, and make a dash into the willows they had so lately abandoned They pushed on as fast as their crippled condition would allow—being very sore-footed—and finally arrived at the place where they had left the man with their horses, to find that they had gone Here was another difficulty and ninety miles to travel on foot before reaching Taylor's bridge Space forbids further details. Suffice it to say, they succeeded in reaching that point, to find that their herder had given them up for lost, and had returned after waiting six days longer than they had intended to be gone, and that the men at the bridge had sent him back with others to search for them Here they waited several days until their return, and came on into Idaho City, satisfied that, though unsuccessful in finding gold in any considerable quantities, they nevertheless did find colors in several places with nothing better than a frying pan to prospect with, and that there are heavy beds of washed quartz gravel and a fine looking country for gold Patterson has made up a company of forty or fifty men, and will return immediately after the election to prospect the country thoroughly

'Died of Andrew Johnson '—The following melancholy paragraph is from Washington dispatches to the New York Tribune

General Jim Lane died of Andrew Johnson He went from here to Kansas, impressed with the delusion that his support of the President was acceptable to the people of that State, that he could carry it for Johnson's policy by 5 000 majority His first appearance upon the streets of Lawrence shocked him with a sense of his error In the town where he had once walked a monarch, no man spoke to him Old friends passed him without recognition on the sidewalk On horseback in the principal street, he rode unrecognized and rejected He went to his house and sent for many of his old friends to come and see him They returned answer that they wished no intercourse with him Two days after his arrival Representative Clark came from Washington What a contrast and what a lesson! A vast crowd met and welcomed him with music and with flags A public meeting applauded his votes honored him for his fidelity and pledged to him the love and the support of Kansas Humiliated smitten with remorse and utterly desperate, Lane determined at once to end his life and his career in Johnson politics

Mr Stanton's Prediction

The following statement respecting Secretary Stanton is taken from the Washington correspondence of the Chambersburg (Pa) Repository If it be true, it will be understood that Mr Stanton is not very deeply impressed with the idea that "my policy" is a success for peace and loyalty

Prominent radicals here are in receipt of most touching appeals from loyalists of the South whose dwellings are burned and who are hunted like partridges by the triumphant rebels What is generally wanted is the means to get away, as the hope of protection is abandoned These appeals would be much more frequent but for the fear of discovery These suffering loyal people, white and black, are held in mortal fear like children who are cruelly beaten by nurses and threatened with worse if they complain Witness the petition from loyal men of Virginia, which was lately presented to the Senate by Mr Trumbull and afterward withdrawn for fear of consequences to the petitioners A Congressman who received one of these appeals from a loyalist in South Carolina, whose dwelling had been burned down and he and his family driven to the woods where they are now skulking went to Secretary Stanton to ask transportation for these outraged people to some place of safety Mr Stanton read the letter carefully then remarked

"I regret that there is no law authorizing me to interfere Such appeals are coming up from all parts of the South I have no authority to help these people

And, is it so, Mr Secretary," inquired an applicant, "that, after spending three thousand millions of money and two hundred thousand lives, the men we have been fighting are triumphant our friends left to their mercy, and the Government powerless to protect them?

'It is even so!' was the emphatic reply of Edwin M Stanton

Then, Mr. Stanton, to what are we coming?'

'We are coming to another war!' said the Secretary of War and that soon and it is my consolation in this view of the case, that the next war will not end in a mock trial of traitors When our men go down there the next time, they will try and execute traitors with the bayonet "

From Louisiana —A delegation of ex rebel legislators and soldiers go to the Philadelphia Convention Randall Hunt, one of the "U. S. Senators elect,' Gen Dick Taylor, of battle notoriety, Judge Egan, a wealthy planter on Red River; Duncan S Cage, Speaker in the Legislature, Judge Voorhees, Colonel G. A. Williams, late of the Rebel army, and Messrs Ray and King are among the delegates at large Among the District delegates are Mr Gayarre, Judge Abel, Mr. Lapayre, F. A. Rozier, Judge Alexander Walker, of the Picayune, Mr King, of the Times, Colonel Herron, Judge Spofford, Duncan F Kenner, who was a member of the Confederate Congress, Victor Burthe, Jules Oliver, and others

An important decision has been rendered by Judge Nelson in the United States Circuit Court of the Southern District of Missouri A large quantity of abandoned cotton was in 1865 and 1866 seized in the State of Georgia by an agent of the Treasury Department and forwarded for sale on Government account to Simeon Draper, Government agent for the sale of confiscated property. The claimant for the property moved to have the case removed, for adjudication, from the United States Court to the State Court The motion was overruled, and the disposition of the cotton sold under the confiscation act of 1863 sustained by the Court.
